

Weymouth Gazette

BRAINTREE REPORTER.

WEYMOUTH, MASS., FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1892.

NO. 5.

VOL. XVI.

The Weymouth Gazette.
PUBLISHED BY U. S. EASTERBROOK.
TUESDAY, AT WEYMOUTH, MASS.

Terms: Two Dollars a Year, in Advance.
Single Copy, Five Cents.
Orders for all kinds of Printing will receive prompt attention, and be made and correctly executed.

Business Cards.

Mrs. Dr. Tuck, ECTLECTIC, and through Electrician.

Chronic Diseases, a Specialty.

Office, 25 Winter St., Boston; every day, (Thurs. days and Sundays excepted).

HYGIENIC RETREAT,

50, WEYMOUTH, MASS.

Best place for chronic.

Dr. F. J. Bonney, DENTIST,

Faxon's Block, Chestnut St.,

QUINCY, MASS.

will be at

SOUTH WEYMOUTH Every Thursday.

at the Office of Dr. C. C. Town.

HAY and STRAW!

Bundle Hay and Straw

FOR SALE BY

JOS. LOUD & CO.,

WEYMOUTH LANDING.

MASON & HAMLIN

ORGANS

Swedish

Balmain

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

Swedish

J. AUSTIN DEANE, DEALER IN COAL, FLOUR, HAY,
FERTILIZERS, &c.,
Sole Weymouth Depot.

FOR SALE.
WOOD.
Pine, Oak and Maple.

TRASH WOOD.

RED CEDAR POSTS,

ALL SIZES AND LENGTHS;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

White Cedar Posts and Rails;

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN UNION.

No one of all the excellent institutions of which Boston boasts with a justifiable pride has more solid ground than the Young Men's Christian Union. Starting with small beginnings and but a limited fund, the union through its working, enthusiastic president, William H. Baldwin, demonstrated to the shrewd merchants of Boston its solid value to the young men of the city to such an extent that when it was found desirable to erect a building for the union's exclusive use no difficulty was found in raising the required amount. Year after year new means of benefiting our people have been suggested, and although it might seem to some outside the scope of the duties of such an institution to provide homes in the country for the poor children of our city, the union has done that, and made brighter many a young life.

Good and liberal views have added to and drawn within the good influence of this noble institution thousands who might but for it have gone astray, and we believe we are safe in stating that all of the churches in the city together have not had more power to keep the young people from going down than has the Young Men's Christian Union.

THE EXECUTION OF DEATH.

Our attention has been called to several articles which have appeared in the Boston papers in regard to the execution of a man for the murder of a woman. We have none of that sickly sentimentality which too often attempts, and too frequently succeeds, to interfere with human justice. But we look upon the taking of a human life, even under the strict letter of the law, as a solemn matter, and we cannot conceive how an editor of a public newspaper can admit into its columns so indignantly to the execution of a man for the murder of a woman. We have none of that sickly sentimentality which too often attempts, and too frequently succeeds, to interfere with human justice. But we look upon the taking of a human life, even under the strict letter of the law, as a solemn matter, and we cannot conceive how an editor of a public newspaper can admit into its columns so indignantly to the execution of a man for the murder of a woman.

ADMONISHMENT OF DUTY.

We should really like to know by what right those who accept public office absent themselves from the sphere of their duties whenever they see fit to do so. During the recent session of our legislature, day after day nearly half of the members were absent from their seats, and the business of the session was consequently delayed. Can any man who is elected to public office be so irresponsible? Our people should watch the attendance of those whom they pay to serve them and mark every man to be elected to any office who does not attend faithfully to the work he is paid to do.

IN CONGRESS MATTERS.

In congress matters in this respect are no better. Over and over again we read that important business is delayed because a quorum is not present and cannot be drummed together. We think it would be an excellent plan to deduct from the pay of all persons in the government employ for the time they are not attending to their work. No private business could be conducted as loosely as is the public business without resulting in failure.

ADVERTISING.

We were much pleased recently with a conversation we had with the editor of one of the best conducted weekly papers in the Hub on the matter of advertising in the suburban papers. Of course our city friends are anxious to obtain all the patronage he could, "but," said he, "I know that advertisements in a local paper are read by a larger proportion of those who see it, than those in papers which are taken only for the news they contain of current events." We know that that is so. The local paper is read thoroughly; in those who take it the advertisements frequently contain interesting news; while probably three out of five of the daily newspapers are hurriedly glanced over for items and then thrown aside.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Alimony was made last week to the advantage by the Lovell Circuit, of the nomination of Charles A. Reed, Esq., a native of Weymouth, for Attorney-General of the Commonwealth, and we give the article published in the Courier, as follows:

"Among the legislative honors there is one which stands in a simple class, and seems to be growing in quite considerable respect—not by any means, but an inherent fact, it is that Mr. Charles A. Reed of Taunton, of the lower branch, for Attorney-General. The conclusion has been reached that the name of Reed is not again a candidate, and it is the most natural thing in the world that the members of the House should turn to a lawyer among their own number to fill the place of Mr. Reed for his successor. The member from Taunton has served two years on the Judiciary Committee and is known to one who thoroughly masters the legal questions which come before the House. He is not a slow member and never speaks except when he has something to say. Last year he made a reputation especially in a speech on the legal aspects of the Shady Canal. This year he has taken a prominent part in several of the chief debates, and with a legal force and acumen which have caused a very general admiration of his name for the chief legal officer of the Commonwealth."

THE MONTHLY FOR JUNE.

A richly laden with the choicest reading, and splendidly illustrated, of which our limits will allow but brief notice. The favorite juvenile, "St. Nicholas," has a beautiful frontispiece, "Longfellow and his boy visitors," accompanying an account of the visit to the poet. Other contents of great interest are "The Great Tub Race," The Ice Creamer, The Spicers' Cows, The Wheel Trap, Designs for Little Artists, Scats and Seal Hunting in the North Atlantic, and other charming papers, fully illustrated.

THE LONG ESTABLISHED AND FAVORITE.

The long established and favorite frontispiece of Delight in Disorder, and the various illustrated papers are of great interest. The Social Adversity of America, Torpedoes and Torpedo Boats, in the Pine, Father of the Pueblos, and other articles of a nature attractive to every reader.

THE JUNE "CENTURY" FRONTISPIECE.

A brilliant portrait of Cardinal Newman, the contents of the number including a story and splendidly illustrated sketch, Around Cape Horn, Wood Engraving and Century Plates, Opera in New York, with charming portraits of distinguished singers; The Pastures of California, Marble Mining in Arizona, etc., making, with other papers, a number of great value.

LOCAL TOPICS.

The dangerous corner in Washington St. was the scene of a collision Monday evening between the express train of W. K. Taylor & Son and the carriage of Mr. P. L. Thayer. Mrs. Thayer was driving toward the depot, the express coming from that direction, and meeting at the corner, the two vehicles came in contact, breaking one of the wheels of Mr. Taylor's carriage. A warning of this sort is a most imperative necessity for the safety of the public.

Mrs. Thayer desires to express, through our columns, her thanks to the gentleman who came to her rescue.

THE PRIVATE SCHOOL.

Of Miss S. M. Blanchard's pupils took place in the lecture-room of the Union Church last Monday evening, and was attended by a large number of parents and friends of the scholars. The programme comprised 25 numbers, and the pupils, from the oldest to the youngest, manifested a proficiency in their plain and organ recitations that not only was creditable to them, but also evinced a faithful and earnest effort on the part of their teacher for their advancement in the art divine.

COUNTRY FAIR.

At a meeting of the ladies appointed by the committee of gentlemen, to consider the arrangements for the proposed fair at the Village Cemetery Improvement Association, held in the hall last Saturday evening the following officers were elected.

President, Mrs. F. F. Fernald. Vice-presidents, Mrs. C. T. Crane, Mrs. C. A. Chasman, Mrs. C. G. Eastbrook, Mrs. P. A. Noyes, Mrs. Augustus Eaton, and Mrs. L. H. Fry. Secretary, Miss Lena F. Bagley. Treasurer, Miss Kate Cushing.

PAINTERS ARE VERY BUSY THIS SEASON.

The house of J. G. Worster has been repainted by West, the Rev. Mr. Davis by Hersey, and Burdell has given Willie Baker's and other houses a new coat of paint. The prevailing rage for paint-colors is greatly changing the appearance of New England towns, where an all prevailing white has been in the ascendancy for many years.

TRAILING.

Paul Stierling's "St. Mary" was driven a mile in public at Beacon Park on Wednesday, by J. A. Wilkins, in 2:24, without making a skip.

POST OFFICE NOTICE.

Letters remaining in the Post Office at Weymouth June 24—Mr. Sylvester E. Allen, Mr. H. J. Dillbeck, T. A. Barber, Miss Angie Barker, Mrs. James Colburn, Miss Cecile Church, Mrs. Forrester & Co., Miss Kate Lynch, Miss Sarah McLean, Mr. G. H. G. McLeary, Frank A. Newell, Mr. W. H. Popperson, Fred W. Hughes, Clarence Spooner, Mrs. Little Shaw, Willie Seely, Social Lodge No. 8; Miss Alice P. Walker.

CALL AT VAUGHAN'S.

For one of the 20 or 25 c. BOXES OF ICE CREAM. Mr. Alfred Vaughan has placed in his drug store a new and elegant soda fountain of Dow's manufacture, and with the latest fruit syrups the doctor has means to make all his friends comfortable during the warm weather.

EVERY ONE OF THE 150 SHALE TREES SET OUT BY Mr. W. G. Gutterus last year on the line of Commercial street, has leaved out this season, and bears a flourishing aspect.

24 persons were received into the membership of the Baptist church last Sunday, the fruits of the recent revival, and two candidates were baptized in the evening. Rev. Mr. Luther, the evangelist, is still engaged in his work at Stonington.

THE WORK OF SETTING THE BOUNDARY STONES ON THE LINE OF WASHINGTON STREET, BY THE COMING "COUNTDOWN" MEETING, WAS COMPLETED LAST FRIDAY, AND THE LINES ARE NOW DEFINITELY SATISFACTORY TO MOST OF THE ABUTTERS.

Six persons were confirmed at the Episcopal church last Friday evening, and an equally impressive service was conducted by Bishop Haddock. The music for the occasion was under the direction of Mr. Lewis M. Pratt, and was finely adapted to the service.

Mrs. Francis L. Hobart has removed to Lowell, and her son, Mr. E. Warren Hobart, who will also reside there, has accepted an agency of the Essex Rubber Co. of that city.

MR. HOWARD POOLE, FOREMAN OF THE CUTTING ROOM AT A. W. CLAPP & CO'S FACTORY, BEING IN POOR HEALTH, HAS, BY THE ADVICE OF HIS PHYSICIAN, SUSPENDED LABOR FOR A MONTH, AND WILL PROBABLY TAKE A TRIP TO THE MOUNTAINS.

THE SHOE FACTORY OF MR. R. A. HUNT, ON FRONT STREET, HAS BEEN RECENTLY PAINTED BY NIGHT LIGHT.

Stenographer No. 1 was taken out on Tuesday night to help the reverend Mr. Thayer. The grounds about the Weymouth railroad station have been graded in a thorough manner.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETINGS ARE BEING HELD IN THE BAPTIST CHURCH EVERY EVENING IN EACH WEEK, THE MEETINGS BEING LED BY RECENT CONVERTS.

Cornelius Green is building a new barn at his residence on Broad street. Miss Lizette Fairbanks is anticipating a visit to Ohio soon.

MR. FRANCIS F. TIRRELL LEFT FOR ST. PAUL, MINN., LAST MONDAY, WITH HIS FAMILY, AND WILL REMAIN THERE PERMANENTLY.

The monthly meeting of the Harborside H. L. & C. Co. was held last Tuesday evening. The university of the Sunday School connected with the Union church opens next Sabbath.

MR. FRANK W. NASH HAS OPENED A DINING ROOM AT HIS RESIDENCE ON NOVA STREET, DURING HIS VACATION.

Mr. F. C. Cowing, station agent at Weymouth, is visiting friends in Nova Scotia, during his vacation.

MR. EDWIN CLAPP HAS BEEN SET ASLIDE BY THE BAPTIST CHURCH, TO FURNISH THE ORGAN BLOWER WITH MORE LIGHT AND AIR.

The interior of the Church of the Sacred Heart having been completed and furnished, the dedication of the edifice will take place on Sunday, the 18th inst.

THE WORKMAN ENGAGED IN ERECTING THE POLE FOR THE NEW TELEPHONE LINE IN NANTASKET WILL COMMENCE WORK AT THE LANDING NEXT WEEK, WE ARE INFORMED.

THE ICE CREAM SEASON HAS OPENED AT VAUGHAN'S.

John Foster Gray announces that he is open to engagements for the 4th of July. He to return to Old Spain this evening, on the battle of Hunker ship.

WEDNESDAY EVENING POST NO. 35.

DEPARTMENT OF MASS., G. A. R., Weymouth, June 6, 1882.

General Order No. 4.

In behalf of Post 58 the Commander desires to return thanks for the many acts of kindness and assistance rendered by our townpeople in carrying out the exercises of Memorial Day. The weather was such that could be desired and nothing occurred to mar the ceremonies which the soldier recalls the grand memories of the war for the Union.

We tender our grateful acknowledgments to the town of Weymouth, for its generous donation of $300, to assist in paying the expenses incident to the day. To the Rev. Lincoln H. Fry and Rev. W. H. Bolster for the discourses delivered by them to the Post on the Sunday preceding Memorial Day, we beg to offer our warmest expressions of thanks. No words could have spoken more in unison with the feelings of our hearts and judgments than those uttered by our reverend friends.

To the members of the respective choirs, we would offer appreciative thanks for the inspiring music so finely rendered on the occasion.

We feel especially honored by our esteemed friends F. M. Allington and F. C. Fry for their poetical offerings, breathing the tenderest sympathy for the living soldier and with touching pathos recalling the memory of our comrades numbered with the slain.

To our comrades of Post 3 of Philadelphia for the beautiful offering sent in remembrance of our mutual comrade Andrew Mahoney, and which with care, was placed on his honored grave.

To the obliging Editors of the Gazette and Advance for the liberal space in their columns devoted to the interests of the Post, and for well prepared reports of the exercises of the day.

To our townpeople who gave us kind words backed by deeds, to the children who brought us such a profusion of wreaths and bouquets.

To the ladies and gentlemen of East Weymouth who contributed so liberally of money to procure the elegant decorations for the day, we tender our grateful thanks.

To the members of the Post, the Commander desires to express his admiration of their soldierly bearing, and prompt obedience to orders.

It is a privilege and pleasure to be looking back over the incidents of the day, he can recall no unworthy word or deed, uttered or performed by his comrades.

To the Company Commanders, Captains Haddock, Lyon, Lord and Young, the Commander desires to express his great obligations and the thanks of the Post. To their prompt attention to the duties of the occasion, and the efficient handling of their commands, is due in great measure the gratifying success of the labors of the day.

The Adjutant is hereby directed to furnish a copy of this order for publication in each of the newspapers of the Town, and forward a copy to the several persons herein named.

DENIS S. LOVELL, Post Commander.

CHILDREN'S CHURCH.

Children's Sunday will be observed at this church by the Sabbath School, which holds its anniversary meeting in the church in the morning, in the place of the usual service on which occasion Mr. Morton Dexter, of Boston, one of the editors of the Congregationalist, is expected to make an address. In the evening they will hold a children's meeting, at which Rev. Mr. Davis is expected to speak. Mr. Davis was formerly pastor of the North End Church, Boston, and more recently has been engaged in missionary work in the lumber regions of Michigan.

Last Sabbath evening, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Fry, preached a very strong discourse upon "The Drunkard's Crime," going out from the beaten track and throwing the responsibility of the crime, not inordinately upon the man himself who indulges in the crime, but proved very conclusively, from scripture, reason and fact, that this dreadful disease is not a punishment, but a curse, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as such deserves the same punishment as a man against his will, on account of overmastering circumstances or hereditary influence, and compels him to do that which he would not, and that it is his own free act, for which he is primarily responsible, and as

SUNDAY TRAINS.
New York, (via Fall River Line, 7:00 P. M. Return, (via Fall River Line, 15:30 P. M.) Fall River, (via Taunton, 7:00 am; via Biddeford River, 5:45 PM. Return, (via Taunton, 5:30 am; (via Biddeford River, 7:20 am.)
South Braintree and Way Stations, 8:30 AM, 11:45, 5, 10 PM. Returns (South Braintree, 6:15, 9:30 AM; 1:45, 5, 10:45 PM.)
 Passes only to leave passengers, & no on arrival of boat from New York; & Mondays excepted. & Mondays only & Tuesdays & Fridays only.
J. R. KENDRICK, Sup't

HONGKONG

100

On Saturday morning Cushing and Mr. H. Palmer, of Chicago, came to the city in the employ of the Chicago & North Western to pass a few days. Mr. Cushing is nearly every one in the city. He is the owner of the Cushing House, and is also the hotel. Mr. Palmer is a native of Mr. Wm. J. Cushing. On Sunday morning S. T. Tilton, the owner of the National bank, and Mr. Cushing, Minn., were in the city.

Cashier House:

Mr. Cushing, the proprietor of our Hotel, has engaged all the rooms for the summer more than usual and arranged for this season every room in the hotel is no hotel in the city so neat in all its appointments. Mr. Cushing represents the Boston & North Attleboro' Steamship Co., and during the summer constantly employs the Water Co's New England. The new building with its South street front, under Co., does not present. We are informed the officers of the company truth whatever the contractor is waiting, and that the hotel is ready for occupancy.

Name.

the large private building on Hingham street, Hingham, the residence of Capt. E. H. H. in charge some of the Boston, and although a priestess, Mrs. H. had the house for the last been known as the Bales House. The rows, feeling that sustained for a state the name of her own to the house that could have borne, an House. The following rooms at the for the season: Children and family, J. W. B. A. Hills and family, all family, and a bride, all of Boston.

It seems that on a

[illegible]

Mr. GEORGE CHASE,

agement with the water the streets
the steamboat landl put upon the stre
this year will be fro

His long experience

GENT

100

6 enable

PER

Prices as of 12/1/80

FIELD Y

HELP

from such chair rest men, women, i.e. and own localities. The
the ordinary wages and that you had to make money.

whole time to the w
Full information, and
GEO BLINSON &

SAW ME THE AULTMAN &

100

1

100

1

Oh, be Joyful!

1882. supply of BLES, BEEF, L. & C. their orders on or will be delivered mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

mouth Landing.

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

Oh, be Joyful!

